What to Look For in Hiring Commercial and Industrial Cleaners

One would think choosing a commercial cleaning service to maintain their facility would be a relatively easy task.

Most maintenance managers of facilities, responsible for overseeing the cleanliness and health of their building, know this is not as simple as it sounds.

Here are some of the additional considerations in hiring a cleaning service.

Insurance

Don't just take the cleaning company's word stating they have insurance. Get a copy of their insurance certificate. If you hire them insist on being added as a certificate holder and additional insured. Every reputable commercial cleaning service will be happy to provide proof of insurance.

Cleaning Products and Equipment

A reputable and experienced company will gladly take the time to tour your facility, see the work which needs to be done and even assist you in developing a schedule to keep the facility clean and shiny.

Cleaning Checklist

Ask the commercial cleaning service for a cleaning checklist which will list all the services performed for each cleaning. This insures you will only pay for services that have been provided to your satisfaction.

Pricing and Payment Method

A reputable commercial cleaning service understands budgets and will understand your need to have an idea, if not a solid dollar amount for the types of services necessary or which may become necessary.

Guarantees and Cancellation Policies

Lastly, policies. Check the companies' policies on types of payment they accept, their cancellation policy and if they offer a guarantee.
