Do It Yourself Home Pest Control

DIY pest control products are good both in dealing pests indoors or outdoors even without professional help, you will find out that pest control is simple as well as making your home pest free.

- Garlic is a natural insect repellent and an organic pesticide for your garden.
- Tomatoes If planted together with garlic can prevent red spider mites.
- Applying garlic spray on growing potatoes can keep rabbits away.
- Spraying garlic pesticides on bird baths and ponds will kill mosquitoes.
- Onions and mint are good for beetles, bugs and fleas.
- Borax or boric acid is good in eliminating roaches, ticks, ants, termites, fleas, and many more. It also removes mold and mildew.
- Pyola, which contains canola oil and pyrethrins, is effective in eliminating aphids, squash bugs, and beetles.
- Tomato leaf can also serve as insect spray by crushing the leaves and extracting the juice together with water and cornstarch.

Always remember that pest control does not guarantee everything. There may be some DIY techniques and products that may only keep pests away temporarily - and then they will come back. In cases like these, DIY may cost you more than seeking professional help.
