

Stages of Carpet Cleaning

There are basically different phases that need to be completed when cleaning a carpet. This is a very delicate thing in your household which needs to be cleaned properly.

As mentioned, there are different ways of cleaning the carpets but just so you know, there are just three major cleaning procedures done when it comes to carpet cleaning.

Pretreatment of your carpet- Carpet Cleaning

The first phase of carpet cleaning involves the pretreatment of your carpet. This may seem to be an unnecessary carpet cleaning step, but in reality, this is the most important cleaning step.

Cleaning Process

The next phase would involve the cleaning process itself. The removal of the resurfaced dirt will be done here. Carpet cleaning would involve hot water extraction, dry extraction and cold water extraction. These methods usually work for a certain type of carpet cleaning job.

Removing Cleaning Residue

The last phase basically neutralizes the carpet leaving it to be as presentable as it must be. Cleaning will leave no dirt behind but instead remove cleaning residue. Carpet cleaning, involves methods mentioned, and these usually leaves some of the cleaning materials in the carpet.

Whether you would have your carpets cleaned by professionals or by yourself, you should be knowledgeable when it comes to carpet cleaning.
