Everyone reacts differently to death and as a consequence, there are many organisations in the community who provide support at different levels. A few are listed below.

Australian Centre for Grief and Bereavement: www.grief.org.au

Centrelink Social Workers: www.centrelink.gov.au

Better Health Channel: www.betterhealth.vic.gov.au

National Association of Loss & Grief Victoria: www.nalagvic.org.au

Funeral services

A Funeral manager is always available

C G Moody & Daughter also offers the convenience of a live in manager, who will be of assistance 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and eases the burden of decision making from families in their time of grief.

Funeral plans tailored to your needs

No funeral is the same, personalising every service is important to us, including the venue...chapel, church, in the family home, garden or park service, in the city or country.

Also, C G Moody & Daughter's coffin and casket range is extensive and varied.

Flowers, music and special requests can all be arranged depending on your requirements.

Eulogy writing - it's easier than you think

A eulogy is a speech or written life tribute in memory of someone who has died. The speech is usually delivered at a funeral or memorial service.
