Our Philosophy on Car Service Costs

Whilst we like the idea of providing a cheap car service for each of our customers (check out our monthly car servicing special), this does not mean the quality of the work we carry out is any less than you would (or should) expect from any other local mechanic here on the Central Coast.

Here at Discount Tyres and Automotive, both Tuggerah NSW and Lake Munmorah NSW, we believe in using only the best equipment available to carry out every tyre and auto service. With that in mind we have invested in a diagnostic scan tool which helps us locate issues quickly and easily, cutting down on time and therefore unnecessary cost to our customers. We are able to keep our car service costs down by providing efficient service, carrying out only work that is actually required, so you can save more of your hard-earned cash on other things.

It is important to us to provide high quality work resulting in the best possible results for your vehicles, and as such you can rest assured the condition of your car will not be compromised by the unbeatable car service pricing we are able to offer.

Car Air Conditioning Is Complex

The air conditioning unit within your car is a very complex piece of equipment. As such it takes a skilled technician with the right tools to do the job properly.

One of the main issues with car air conditioning is the gas that is used in the system. This gas is called R134a. The gas is very bad for the ozone layer and for global warming if released into the atmosphere. Hence the strict requirements placed on technicians to ensure that no gas escapes whilst in the process of fixing any issues in a car's air conditioning unit.

How Can The Gas Escape?

There are several ways that gas can escape from a vehicle's air conditioning system. The loss of gas can be caused by leaking pipes, or by a lack of maintenance. Not using the air conditioning unit for a period of time can also cause issues, as it leads to the rubber o rings within the system drying out and consequently leaking.

Our Recommendations For Your Car Air Conditioning Regas

We recommend that you run your car's air conditioning for at least 5 minutes per week to keep these o rings in great operational order. Every car that comes in to our workshop will be tested for leaks to ensure that the air conditioning system will operate to its peak performance levels.

At Discount Tyres And Automotive We Only Have The Best

In keeping with our philosophy here of having only the very best in the motor vehicle industry, we have recently invested in obtaining the latest air conditioning equipment available. The equipment that we have, along with our highly skilled mechanics, will ensure that the correct amount of gas is in your system. This will enable you to get the result you are hoping for at a price that won't mean a second mortgage!
