How to Choose the Right Lawn Mower For You

When you don't have the time and energy to keep your lawn beautiful, this calls for one thing, a lawn mower to keep all that grass looking tidy and luscious green.

Rotary Mowers

It relies on circulating blade to trim and slash the tall grass. The blade is shielded by a protective cover. This kind of lawn mower is gasoline -dependent models or manually operated.

Reel Mowers

This is a hand-operated lawn mower which is perfect for smaller lawns around 100 square meters and made of soft grass. You can also enjoy the benefit of a little bit of exercise while operating this type of lawn mower.

Gas- powered Lawn Mower

If you aren't opposed to the smoke, the odor, and the racket, a gas-powered lawn mower could be what you are looking for .

Electric-powered Mower

The corded lawn mower will need a cord stretching about 100 feet long, which will plug in to an electric outlet. But if you're one of the people who dreads running over the cord itself and cutting it with the lawn mower blades, or if you simply find electric cords a nuisance, then you will like a cordless electric lawn mower.

Manually -operated Mowers

A human-powered or push mower will be appropriate for running on sloping, hilly yards. For ease of use, get the front-propelled type of lawn mowers.

Tractor-type of lawn mower.

This is the type you can actually drive like a vehicle as you trim the grass in the yard. If you're in the market for a "green" product, then we highly recommend Earthwise Lawn Mowers.
