Finding a Quality Handyman

Finding a reliable and quality handyman isn't always as easy as it should be.

Here are a list of tips to find you a good handyman where you live.

Source your handyman

Ask your trusted friends, neighbours and family for a handyman referral. If you're struggling to find a good referral then its time to look online and find a handyman you like the look of and has good reviews and testimonials.

Screen and qualify the handyman

Google your handyman and look out for reviews and complaints from past clients. You can find reliable reviews and feedback on business directory sites.

Get in touch with the handyman

Give the handyman a call and talk over your job. Ask about their specific experience in relation to the job, and how they might tackle it.

Ask for and contact references

Checking references is a powerful tool to ensure you get a good quality handyman.

Check for insurance

If the handyman has liability insurance, the insurance company should take care of it. Avoid awkward situations by making sure the handyman you hire has insurance.

How does he charge?

Some handyman charge per hour and some per job and add on the cost of any expenses later on. Make sure you avoid surprises by asking for a quote for the complete finished job upfront.

The average person can truly benefit by finding a quality handyman in their local area to help them out with projects around their home.
